

FALL 2022 GERMAN GENEALOGICAL SEMINAR

Featuring Ingeborg Carpenter

Will be presented virtually via Zoom

On Saturday morning, October 22nd from 9:15am until 12noon

Ms. Carpenter was born and raised in Germany and started her journey into family history many years ago. She continues to research her own family in Germany, plus the family of her Scots-Irish husband in the United States. She received her M.A. in German Language and Literature, and her teaching credentials, from the California State University, Sacramento. She is also a proud veteran of the US Air Force.

She is especially interested in the social history of our ancestors, with a focus on women, and loves to tell stories of their lives, where and how they lived, and how the vagaries of history affected their personal circumstances. In addition to lectures, she translates historical documents, and teaches the Old German script, Kurrent.

She is a board member of the Sacramento German Genealogical Society (SSGS), the International German Genealogy Partnership (IGGP), and the Sacramento Turn Verein.

TOPIC: GADGETS, CONTRACTIONS, THINGAMAJIGS, AND WHATCHAMACALLITS OUR GERMAN ANCESTORS COULD HARDLY HAVE LIVED WITHOUT.

It appears that our German ancestors had a gadget or thingmajig that made every chore more efficient. Some of these items will wrinkle your brow, others will make you laugh, and almost all will elicit surprise. Learn how they lived through the tools they used.

There will be ample time both during and after the presentation for audience questions.
